

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A process forms workpieces in a forming system with at least one forming station. The workpieces are transported from or to the at least one forming station. Outside the time
5 period provided for the forming of a certain workpiece, a machining takes place in the forming system with a local energy feed on this workpiece.